

Pharma: Reusable screw fitting

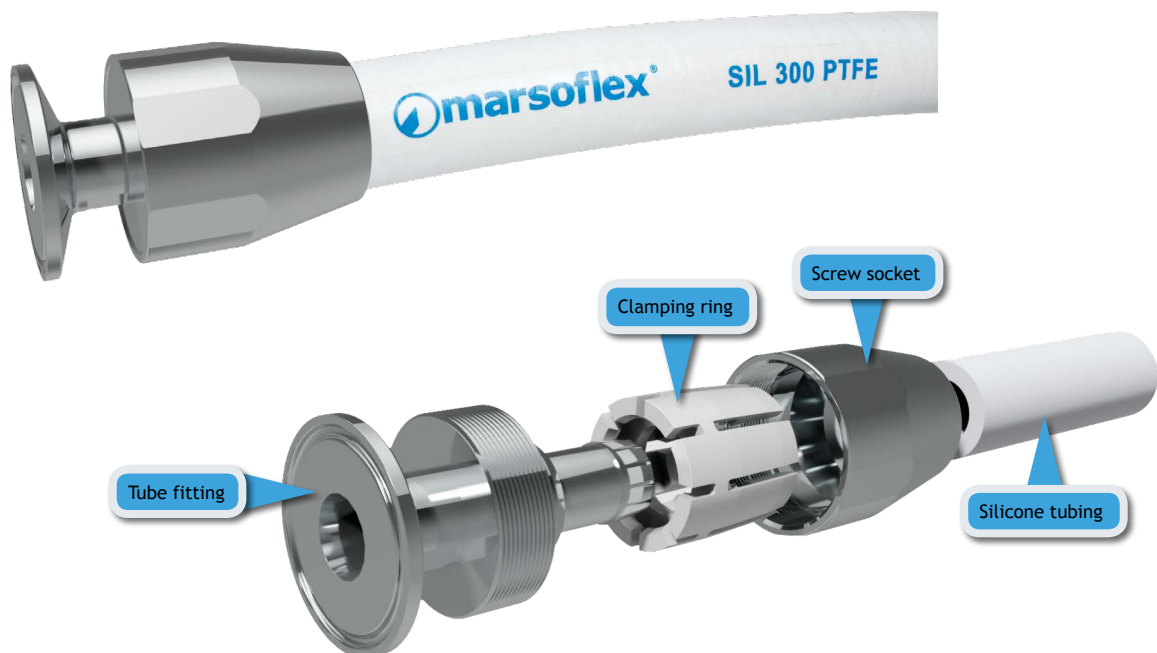

Our three-part fitting is a high quality and reusable screw fitting for silicone tubing type SIL 200 and SIL 300 or SIL 300 PTFE. It was developed especially for the exacting requirements of the pharmaceutical and biochemical industry.

New technology
from  marsoflex[®]

It perfectly extends our product range of reusable fittings and is the optimum solution for large nominal widths that do not comply with our two-part fitting. In the standard version, the screw fitting is available in sizes DN 20 to DN 50. They also feature a welding end according to DIN 11866 series B for all common types tube connectors as well as customer-specific connectors.

- Particularly easy cleaning
- Suitable for self-installation
- Optimised for clean room manufacturing
- No specialist tools required

The tube fitting in connection with media is made of high quality and highly resistant stainless steel 1.4404 or 1.4435. The clamping ring is made of autoclavable PVDF. The screw socket is available in stainless steel or PVDF. For the three-part reusable screw fittings, we recommend our silicone tubing.

Are you interested in, or do you currently require our three-part fitting? Please do not hesitate to contact our sales team. Our qualified staff will be pleased to provide you with any additional information and an offer according to your individual requirements.

Subject to change without notice according to the respective state of the art. This document is for information purposes only. Due to the variety of possible installation and operating conditions as well as the application and process technology, this document shall only be considered to be a non-binding guideline; as such, the product delivered by us is not exempt from an independent assessment of its suitability for the intended processes and purposes. No warranty claims can therefore be derived from this information. We naturally ensure the flawless quality of our products according to the standards of our general terms and conditions of sale and delivery.

Alfons Markert + Co. GmbH
A company of the Markert Group
Gadeler Straße 135 · D-24539 Neumünster
Phone: +49 4321 8701 - 0 · Fax: +49 4321 8701 - 149
Email: marsoflex@markert.de · www.markert.de